

Sad for Sadie

Smiling in the face of adversity because people here care about me. At around 8 years old, I can still mix it up with my best buddies, Prince and Ruby even though we are all waiting for new homes. Our Mom got very sick and passed away and we are back at the shelter where she took each of us in when we were at our most unhappy and vulnerable. Our 4-pack included Sissy who did go home with a new family recently. We are all senior dogs who are housebroken and comfortable around other dogs. Prince is the shyest one but we are one grand trio to behold on a walk together!

I'm Sadie with the dense black and brown coat and distinctive widow's-peak. I'm a little overweight from inactivity. It would not be surprise to look at me lying around and think I'm a little depressed at the huge change in my life, but I'm doing the best I can to adapt. It wouldn't be a stretch to call me a couch potato, but I have been enjoying the play yard romps and belly scratches that the volunteers provide.

For an easy dog who does not require a ton of exercise – pick me to be your gal pal.

These are my pals Prince and Ruby

Angel Ridge has a 2-week foster-to-adopt program to help you determine if Sadie or any other dog is right for your family.
